The League of Extraordinary Storytellers / Foul Play

From the creative minds at Impro Melbourne comes the not-to-be-missed double-bill of the year: The League of Extraordinary Storytellers with Foul Play.

What if history's great authors could be summoned and gathered together? Welcome to Blackspore Manor. On the chimes of midnight they come: The League. Austen, Vonnegut, Hunter S. Thompson, Rowling, Chandler and their balladeer kin. For one last tale. The League of Extraordinary Storytellers!

Watch as history's most popular authors weave their untold tales into a night of literary inspired performance. This is a chance for lovers of the written word to savour their favourite muse, live on stage.

And playing with The League is Foul Play – Melbourne's most popular courtroom saga. Every night a case of intrigue, mystery and murder most foul unfolds before your very eyes. Although the retelling of this grisly deed may seem chilling, it's up to those assembled to present the facts, and establish motive and opportunity in the process. The audience fill the ranks of the jury every night - will you find the accused innocent or guilty?

For fans of spontaneous performance, intrigue, mystery and just a little theatrical license, The League of Extraordinary Storytellers and Foul Play double-bill promises a most unique night out.
